RETAILERS INSTALL OFFICERS; PLAN NEW EFFORTS IN FUTURE

Accomplishments of Past Year Reviewed by Officers, and by City and Chamber of Commerce Officials; Future Bright

Optimism for the future of Redwood City was the keynote of the speeches at the annual dinner of the Redwood City Retailers held at the Fox Shoppe Wednesday night, when the officers who will serve the organization during 1931 were installed. Coupled with the spirit of optimism was a plea for better unity and co-operation of all organizations and individuals in the working out of a definite program during the year that will mean a "greater Redwood."

James P. Hearne of the Hearne Dry Goods Company and the retiring president of the Retailers, acted as installing officer. He told of the achievements of the organization during 1930, the first year of its existence, which included the holding of an essay contest in which 600 persons participated, the subject dealing with Redwood City; the co-operation with the chamber of commerce in securing a reduction of merchants' business licenses; a campaign in the interest of county purchasing; the holding of a Spring opening; Easter egg hunt, participated in by several thousand children; Fall Opening and Fashion Show, attended by over 6000 persons; Christmas party, which included the decoration of the business streets of the city in Yuletide attire and children's parade.

The retiring president thanked Mayor Daniel R. Stafford, who was present at the dinner, and the members of the council for their splendid co-operation, the Sequoia Union High School for its help, the police department, and the various service clubs and other organizations for their help in putting over the Retailers' program.

Al Davies of the Davies Auto Co., was installed as the new president of The Retailers. In accepting the position he thanked the members for the honor conferred upon him and pledged to do all within his power to co-operate with the merchants in putting over a successful year during 1931.

"Our success is in the hands of our merchants," said President Davies. "We must clean up our own back yards first," he continued. "We must produce the right conditions for the people to do their buying in Redwood City. Our goods, our prices must be right, and we must give service. Clean competition is good competition."

He urged those in the same class of business, the grocers, the dry-goods and hardware men—to get together and in an ethical manner iron out their own troubles.

Mark E. Ryan of the Ryan Electrical Co., was installed as vice-president of the organization for 1931. He stressed the importance of having a real leader in Redwood City, one who could bring about closer harmony among all organizations and classes of people, and who could tear down some of the factions that unfortunately, he said, now exist. George McQueen and Walter Hilton, the new secretary and treasurer of The Retailers, respectively, were also called upon by Chairman Hearne for brief remarks, and both pledged their full co-operation.

The following directors were installed:

Milton R. Hinds, James P. Hearne, Clarence Choate, Bob Murphy, Willis Ayer, Kendall Towne, Max Beder and Mrs. Frances Franklin.

Mayor Daniel R. Stafford, honor guest of the evening, addressed the gathering and told of some of the accomplishments of the city during the past year, chief of which was the putting over of the harbor program. The mayor said much is to be done in this respect and he asked the full support of the merchants in the harbor development plan.

The mayor suggested that the president of The Retailers be a member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce and that the city council also be represented in the chamber. In this way, he said, a closer contact could be effected between the three bodies, resulting in greater benefit to the city.

Mayor Stafford called attention in his talk to the fact that 39 years ago he organized the first retail merchants' association in Redwood City.

City Manager E. A. Rolison was called upon and spoke briefly on some of the accomplishments of the city during the past year.

Other guests introduced at the dinner were Chief of Police C. L. Collins, Sam H. Winklebleck, president of the Kiwanis Club; Edmund Scott, president of the Exchange Club; and Otis M. Carirngton and C. S. Brown of the Sequoia High School. C. C. Filsinger, commander of the local Legion Post, and Postmaster, Carl K. Mabie.

Mr. Carrington led the gathering in community singing, and the fire department orchestra under the direction of Harry Bourquin furnished the music during the dinner. Close to 75 persons were in attendance.

Congress Favors Trans-Bay Span On Goat Island

Kahn and Johnson Bills Met With Favor in House And Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—UP—The house interstate and foreign commerce committee today reported favorably the Kahn bill permitting the construction of a bridge across San Francisco bay from San Francisco to Oakland, California, by way of Goat Island. The bill was slightly amended in committee to provide thirty years for amortization of financing of the project instead of twenty years as originally provided.

The senate passed the Johnson bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across San Francisco bay, at almost the same time the house committee was acting.

The authorization of the Johnson bill is for a bridge "at a point suitable to the interests of navigation, at or near the general site from Rincon Hill to and across Goat Island, thence to Oakland."

Permission to cross the government reservation on Goat Island must be obtained from the secretaries of war, navy and commerce. If tolls are charged, they must provide for maintenance and for amortization within forty years.

The authorization provides that after amortization the birdge shall be operated without tolls or with tolls sufficient only to provide for maintenance, operation and repair.

The Senate bill, amended just before presentation, called for a forty-year amortization period for the revenue bonds to be issued by the State to finance the construction costs. It was contended by bond experts that the short period of twenty years, the time stipulated in the original bill, was too short, as it would make the charges for use of the toll bridge excessive.

As recommended the Kahn bill provide a thirty-year amortization period. This may either be amended to forty years when presented to the House for action, or the two bills will have to go to conference. The Kahn bill is expected to be called up this week. As soon as the two measures are adjusted for final action and approved, President Hoover will sign the bill.

In approving the bill, Congress grants permission to the State of California, through its State Toll Bridge Authority to construct the bridge across navigable waters and across Government land on Yerba Buena island, the State agreeing to pay for all damage to buildings at the naval station.

The right thus given is subject to the approval of the Chief Engineer of the Army and the Secretary of War. A commission of three harbor engineers will meet in San Francisco next Tuesday at the City Hall to consider the effects of the bridge as planned, upon navigation and shipping, particularly in regard to vertical and horizontal clearances of the spans.

Mrs. Gavin Asked To Name Parents

Claimant to Flood Millions to Tell Court Who Was Her Mother

Mrs. Constance May Gavin, claimant to half a part of the estate ofthe ant to half a part of the estate of the late James Flood, son of the "Bonanza King" is asked to decide before the court of Judge George H. Buck who her mother is. Mrs. Gavin claims to be a daughter of Flood, and is asked in a series of petitions filed in the court here this week by the Flood attorneys to state whether her mother was Mrs. Rosinda Flood, first wife of the deceased millionaire, or whether she was Mrs. Eudora Forde Willett, who claims to be the mother of Mrs. Gavin.

The following questions are presented by the attorneys for the Flood estate:

1. When and where she was born.
2. The name of her mother.
3. Whether or not the petitioner claims or intends to allege or assert that her mother ever was the wife of James L. Flood.
4. Whether she claims to have been or that she was born a legitimate or illegitimate daughter of Flood.
5. If she claims to be a legitimate daughter of Flood, born illegitimate but subsequently legitimated, and how, when and in what manner she was legitimated.
6. By reason of what fact or acts she claims to be an heir-at-law of Flood.

It is demanded by the attorneys for the Flood estate that Mrs. Gavin appear in court on Thursday, February 26, and answer these questions, or else that her claim for a portion of the estate be dropped.

Mrs. Gavin claimed in her petition for a part of the $18,000,000 Flood estate that she was the daughter of Mrs. Rosinda Flood and of James Flood. Later when Mrs. Willette came forward and claimed that she was the mother of Mrs. Gavin, and that the father was James Flood, Mrs. Gavin amended her petition so that heirship might be claimed in either event.

Mrs. Willette has now reversed her story and claims that the father was one, James Cannon, a property man in the old Grove street theatre in San Francisco. John Taaffe, however, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Gavin, has thrown doubt on this statement, when he showed that Mrs. Willette had met Cannon after the alleged birth of her daughter, but did not recognize him.

Bank Officials Plead Guilty In Bank Fraud

Hillsborough Man Awaiting Trial for Stock Market Transactions

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11—(UP)—Jospeh C. Bray and Robert G. Haddow, former officials of the Bank of Italy, pleaded guilty to charges of misapplying funds in federal court here today, but were allowed to remain at liberty on bail, leading to the belief that they would testify against seven financiers indicted with them.

The trial of Bray, Haddow and Claud Galmarino, who managed a branch of Lieb, Keyston & Co., stock brokerage firm, had just started, when the former bankers changed their pleas.

A jury was selected to try Galmarino and the case was then postponed until Friday. Galmarino is charged with aiding Bray and Haddow in the misapplications.

Prosecution attorneys charged in their opening statement that these men took $20,000 from an account of William Eyre and speculated with it at Lieb, Keyston & Co., under guise of the account of Willie Guest, a customer of the brokerage firm.

Among those still awaiting trial is George N. Keyston, Hillsborough, former president of the San Francisco Stock Exchange.

Suspects Held For Burglary Investigation

Two Arrested by Burlingame Officers Admit Stealing Clothes in Berkeley

Two men arrested on suspicion in Burlingame Tuesday night are believed to have been responsible for a number of burglaries along the peninsula. The two men were taken into custody by Officers Ray Nelson and George Larson of the Burlingame police department when they found that the two men were equipped with tools similar to those used in several burglaries on the peninsula recently. Among their belongings were found a glass cutter and a roll of adheasive tape such as is used to cut a small section from a glass door or window near the lock and allow it to be opened.

The men were booked at the Burlingame jail and later removed to San Francisco where their records are being checked by police agents. The men were wearing clothing which they admitted had been stolen in a burglary in Berkeley a few days before. They also had a quantity of jewelry which is believed to have also been stolen.

The men gave their names as Carl Hartman, 21 years old; and Tom McMahon, 26. The men were questioned separately, and told conflicting stories. Addresses given by them proved to be false.

The men attracted the attention of the Burlingame officers, who after following them a short distance in the police car, decided to stop and question them. When they saw the police car behind them the two started across the street, but offered no resistance when the officers called upon them to halt.

County Realtors Given Tax Talk

State income tax in California is a prospect of the near future, Peninsula realtors and property owners were told Wednesday night by Henry Monroe, former head of the California Bar association and for the past two years member of the tax committee of the California Real Estate association.

The statement was made during Monroe's address at a dinner meeting in the Hotel Benjamin Franklin given by the Burlingame-San Mateo Real Estate board in honor of D. D. Watson, president of the state body. Monroe, at invitation of President Watson, substituted for Glenn D. Williaman, secretary of the association, who was unable to attend.

Several states are already adopting the income tax, considered the most scientific of modern forms, said the expert. Among tax reforms suggested to the California tax commission by realtors to relieve burdens on real estate are the income tax plan, sales or "luxury tax" and the severance tax, the speaker said.

President Watson told of the work of state and national associations with tax economists from all parts of the country in an effort to equalize tax burdens.

It is a campaign of education in which property owners and others must join, he said. Among state reforms proposed are an advisory council of nine realtors to act with the tax commission. Work of the association in eliminating the "shady dealer" and advancing professional ethics of the realtor were also explained.

Mayor William H. Taylor welcomed the realtors to San Mateo, and mayors of other Peninsula cities spoke, including Mayor John E. Cowgill, San Carlos, and Mayor Chris Jordan, Belmont. Fred H. Drake, president of the San Mateo County Chomber of Commerce, and D. A. Raybould, past president of the local board, were also speakers. Raybould told of benefits to be expected from construction of the new Western Pacific Peninsula line.

County officials and others were introduced to the gathering attended by more than 100 Peninsula realtors, officials and prominent land owners.

Henry Witte, vice-president of the State organization and president of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting.

SUNNYVALE AIR BASE GETS GOVT. SANCTION

Both Houses Unanimous in Passage of Bill Providing for Sunnyvale Site as Pacific Navy Dirigible Headquarters

Sunnyvale has been selected as the site of the United States government dirigible base. Final action on the selection of the site was taken Tuesday evening, when the senate passed a bill accepting the 1000-acre site at Sunnyvale. The bill received the unanimous sanction of the senate.

The house of representatives unanimously approved last Monday the bill introduced into that body by Congressman Arthur M. Free. Immediately following the passage of by the senate, the bill was sent to President Hoover for his signature.

Construction work on the base is expected to start within sixty days. Preliminary surveys for all installations were made late last year and as the site is practically level, no grading will have to be done.

The sum of $200,000 for the initial work is available, as the director of the budget has agreed to insert $200,000 in the last deficiency bill, this money becoming available as soon as the bill is approved.

The regular navy establishment bill will carry an item of $1,560,000 for Sunnyvale work, available July 1, and the balance of the $5,000,000 estimated cost of the base will be placed in next year's navy bill.

It is quite likely that the Sunnyvale project will be enlarged, and that additional land will be acquired adjoining the present site. It is stated that the navy department contemplates making this base the headquarters for its heavier-than-air, as well as for the lighter-than-air fleet.

The unanimous vote in the Senate on the Sunnyvale bill was the result of an agreement made last Saturday between the northern and southern California delegations to make Camp Kearny an auxiliary base.

Congressman Swing and other southern California representatives withdrew their opposition to Sunnyvale when Secretary Adams changed his former decision and approved the Sunnyvale site, resulting in the House Naval Committee voting or the San Francisco bay location of the base.

Union Station Discussed for San Francisco

Up-town Site Favored by Pen. Industrial Conference Session Today

A meeting will be held in San Mateo today for the purpose of receiving the reply of President Paul Shoup of the Southern Pacific to the demand of the Peninsula Industrial Conference to know whether or not the Southern Pacific will appeal the recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission by which the Western Pacific was granted permission to construct a line from San Francisco along the peninsula, and across the bay to join its present track at Niles. At this time the president of the Southern Pacific has promised to make known to the people of the peninsula what attitude his company will take toward the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The promise of President Shoup was made at a meeting with a number of peninsula men representing chamber of commerce, city governments and other civic organizations. These men had called upon President Shoup to ask that his company cease opposition to the Western Pacific's plan for a peninsula line.

At the meeting today another matter of interest to the people of the peninsula and to the railway as well will be discussed. This is the matter of a union uptown station in San Francisco. A site on Rincon hill has been proposed and is favored by the San Francisco chamber of commerce. This site has not met with the approval of chambers of commerce and civic bodies in this section who favor a site somewhere between Seventh and Eleventh streets and near Market street.

Judge J. J. McGrath, president of the Peninsula Industrial Conference, will ask at the meeting today that he be empowered to act for that organization and to use the influence of the organization in favor of the latter site. Cities and individual chambers of commerce on the peninsula are to be asked to use their influence in favor of this site as well.

The Rail Decision

The Southern Pacific Railway will make known today whether or not it will appeal the recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to the Western Pacific's application for a line along the peninsula. No matter what the decision of the Southern Pacific may be with regard to this action on the part of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Western Pacific will gain its permit for a line along the peninsula. The Southern Pacific by appealing the case may delay the actual construction of the road for a few months, even for a few years. Eventually, however, the desires of the Western Pacific for an all-rail entrance into San Francisco, and the desires of the people of San Francisco and the peninsula to have the road will prevail.

If the Southern Pacific decides to try to delay the construction of the new line it will be taking a regretable attitude. At this particular time so much for the progress of the peninsula depends upon the construction of more and better means of transportation. Thousands of persons have seen in the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission the end of the unemployment situation, as far as the peninsula is concerned, and the consequent revival of business here.

President Shoup of the Southern Pacific has assured residents of the peninsula that whatever action the Southern Pacific takes will be with the best interests of the stockholders of that company in mind. In this he is acting just as he should as the head of the company, but it is our actual belief that the interests of the Southern Pacific would be furthered by having the Western Pacific line built here. Paradoxical as it seems, we believe that the development of this section following the construction of the second railway line would bring an increased revenue to the Southern Pacific which cannot be expected while industries are passing the peninsula sites up because of the fact that this section is served by but one railway.

Depression? What Depression?

While many industries were forced to give ground during 1930 under stiff body blows of depression, reports keep piling up to show that Old Man Hard Times was whipped month after month by scores of aggressive enterprises.

Recently the country's largest hotel advertiser, the giant New Yorker in New York reported net operating profits of over $1,300,000 for its first year and accommodated over three quarters of a million guests. This first year began on January 2, 1930, when the shadow of depression lay black across the land. Here was a new business opening its doors at a time when old firms were closing theirs. Yet while hotel statistics from Washington showed a sharp decline in business this enterprise gathered momentum and profits.

According to Ralph Hitz, managing director of Manhattan's largest hostelry, advertising played an important role in the astonishing success of The New Yorker. "Depression is merely competition," he declared. "We met it by raising our advertising budget 25 per cent—to half a million dollars. We went after business—and we got it."

Many others who went after it got it.

Post-impressionistic Infants

The models one sees in city store windows these days, and many of the far from human looking persons who appear in clothing advertisements, really appear to have fallen from another world. Despite the fashion magazines, American women aren't as a race actually seven or eight feet tall.

Yet now and then some very clever drawings appear making people look like human beings. Many of the advertisements of children's clothes do. We've just been looking at one showing youngsters dressed in little cotton play suits and they're quite as as adorable as our own children and grandchildren. Not long ago one of the department stores of the country tried showing cubistic youngsters. They stopped it. Most folks like children to look like children.

An eminent scientist states that an earthworm shows thought and possesses a brain. The earthworm, it is concluded, contains the least brain capable of voluntary thought. Wrong, all wrong. The scientist has never seen the boyfriend of the young lady in our neighborhood, who sits in an automobile and honks his horn loudly and raucously until the whole block is ready to commit mayhem.

Limelight to Twilight

A movie acrtess' disposal of her spare time is her business, but when it gets into court it becomes everybody's business. After seeing Clara Bow in some of the stuff in which she has appeared on the screen it is no wonder she has to have some recreation after getting home from the lot, but it hardly seems necessary that she had to go so far.

They say "Daisies Won't Tell," but Clara hired one for a secretary who has been telling. Clara, child of Coney Island, has had an appeal on the screen. But now it seems she has fed the wish-dreams of conventionals once too often. She represented, to some screen followers, freedom of thought and action—but neither she nor any other in Holywood can run afoul of gossip and not be destroyed by it, ultimately. Such careers bloom in the light of notoriety but the bloom is soon blighted. Clara Bow's limelight has become a twilight.

Fire Waste Goes Up

Nineteen-thirty may have been a "depression year," but in one phase of our economic life we managed to register an "advance" over 1929—in fire waste. According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the total loss for the year was about $463,612,000, as compared with $422,215,000 in the preceding twelve-month.

The highest yearly loss on record, of more than half a billion, occured in 1926, and then for three successive years the rate went down. It appeared that America was paying some heed to the lessons of fire prevention. But now fire waste is again ascending, due principally to carelessness and ignorance.

Only a great co-operative movement, on a national scale, can allay the fire evil. We observe, annually, a fire prevention week. The exercise of caution, or ordinary commonsense, would readily lead us to observe a fire prevention year. A glance at the statistics should prove to the thinking citizen that fire waste is a problem, of both social and economic importance, that every American should study.

Always Advertising

You're always advertising. When you go about with that long face and those dark remarks and you are making a dead giveaway—tell every body your business is on the rocks. You're advertising, when you do that, for your competitor. The fellow with the smile, the cheerful look, the sunny disposition, is advertising for himself, and doing it right. He's the man who pays the income tax, the grocer, the barber and the candlestick manufacturer.

Transition to Independence Is Now in India's Own Hands

Contrast between Mahatma Grandhi's declaration of India's independence and the details of the most recent disorders in that country illustrates the extreme difficulty of the transition to sef-government.

The Mahatma's dignified recital of grievances makes demand upon Great Britain for immediate and complete self-government by the people of India. But the serious uproar and its cause indicate that it is to themselves as well as to Great Britain that the Indians must look for self-determination.

The rioting and burning to death of a native officer when a Mohammedan cooking beef was attacked by a mob enraged by offense against the Hindu belief that the cow is a sacred animal, is a sample of the internecine bitterness that stands in the way of the British exit from India. Immediate national independence would mean for a large proportion of India's population anything but security and self-determination.

The population of India includes many kinds of people speaking different languages and adhering to different religious faiths, these again split into a multitude of sects. The differences are not tolerant but fanatically hateful. It seems reasonable that if there were any real unity of thought in India a nation of 300,000,000 people would not have been held vassal by a mere handful of British.

The British entering India did not take away from the Indian people the complete independence for which they now make demand. Long before Wiliam the Conqueror took England the Afghans were raiding India. In the sixteenth century a Mongol conqueror set up his government in Delhi and ruled all India. And for more than 200 years India was under Mongol rule and was emerging from that phase when the British went in.

The British, it must be admitted as an academic fact, are intruders in India. It may be said that they have no business there.

But, right or wrong, the British are in India and by that circumstance are under certain responsibilities. They are now quite willing to get out, but not to leave hostile groups in conflict. What Premier MacDonad has offered to India is far more than would have satisfied the American Colonies when they revolted. The offer is one of self-government developed just as fast as Indian people can develop their capacity for it.—S. F. Chronicle.

Love's Sacrifice
By Mildred Barbour

The address was in Dale Randolph's handwriting, and she felt herself blushing as Walton looked at her keenly.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery seek careers in New York. Sally enters hospital training, after despairing of a career in the movies, and Lois marries a wealthy man many years her senior. Their paths diverge somewhat, for Lois's husband disapproves of Sally, who is very gay. On several occasions, after late parties, she has taken drugs to carry her through the day and is dismissed from the hospital. Lois provides her with a home and Dr. Dale Randolph offers her a job. She falls in love with him. He is strongly attracted to Lois. Sally, befuddled by drugs, tells him she loves him. He dismisses her, but Lois persuades him to give her another chance. Sally, instead of being grateful, becomes jealous. Lois's husband is informed that she is in love with Randolph. He watches her closely, particularly when she is in Randolph's company. Sally's brother, Bert, who was in love with Lois at home, comes to New York. Sally tells him Lois is unhappily married and still in love with him. His attentions to Lois bring a remonstrance from Walton. Lois does not suspect that her husband, who resents her failure to aid him in realizing his social ambitions, is getting very tired of her. Hoping to find her in some indiscretion, he has her shadowed. He enlists Sally as an ally.

Chapter 58.

Duress

Bert's threat alarmed Sally. She knew that he meant business. She told herself that she must try to think of some way to head him off. But she couldn't seem to form a plan. Her thoughts wandered — it was as if she were trying to fasten her gaze on some object with a glaring light shining into her eyes.

When Lois and the nurse returned from their walk, Bert met them at the door and motioned them back into the hall. 'Dont let Sally guess that I've told you,' he whispered, "but I have convinced her that she ought to go to a sanitarium at once. She's ready to leave any time."

Lois sighed with relief. "I'll telephone Dr. Randolph," she said. "Perhaps we can arrange to have her go tonight. She may change her mind, if we delay."

"Then you can go home," said Bert, as Lois went to the telephone, "and the nurse can go back to town. We'll give the maid a vacation and lock the place up for the time being."

Lois told Dr. Randolph of Sally's decision, and asked whether it were possible for her to leave that night.

"He says it is." Lois turned to Bert, who was fidgeting about the room. "He'll come out for her."

"Not necessary," said Bert quickly. "I'll take her, if he'll tell me the name of the place and how to get there."

Lois turned the telephone over to him and he scribbled down the address that Dr. Randolph gave him. "And I'll call there this evening," the doctor promised.

"Now, let's not mention the subject unless she brings it up herself," suggested Bert. "I think I'll ask her if she doesn't want to take a little drive before dark. Then I'll make for the sanitarium and leave her there. Just have a bag ready for her, and I'll slip it into the car."

It was with a distinct sense of relief that Lois saw Bert and Sally off an hour later. She dropped the nurse at the station and set off for home at once. Her husband had just entered the house when her car pulled up at the door.

"Sally has gone to a sanitarium of her own free will," she explained. "Bert finally got her to see that it was the only thing. They left a few minutes ago."

Walton looked his amazement, but he said nothing. A telephone-call occupied him until a few minutes before dinner-time. Just before they went into the dining-room he handed her a letter. The address was in Dale Randolph's hand-writing, and she felt herself blushing as Walton looked at her keenly.

"When did this come?" she asked, trying to speak in a casual tone.

"I haven't the least idea," he said. "I found it with my own mail on my desk in the study. Aren't you going to open it?"

Trying not to show her confusion, she tore open the envelop and drew out the single sheet of paper that it contained. The note was very brief — merely a word of thanks for the help she had given him in caring for Sally, and a wish that he might see her soon. She handed the note to Walton, who glanced at it and shrugged.

"I see no reason why that should bring such a guilty look to your face," he said.

His tone was so cutting that she said coldly: "You are letting your imagination get the better of you."

They ate dinner in silence, and afterwards he sent a servant to her sitting-room to say that he was going to the city and would not be back until late. She spent the evening writing a long letter to Sally's family, in accordance with a promise she had made Sally that afternoon. A nervous breakdown, she said, would necessitate hospital treatment for a month or more.

It was late when she arose from her desk. Bert should have telephoned her long ago. He had promised to let her know how he had left Sally. She was preparing to retire when — her maid said that Mr. Todd was on the wire. She picked up the instrument and heard Bert almost shout:

"Lois, Lois, have you seen Sally? She's given me the slip. . . No. . . I don't know where she is. . . ."

"What?" she cried. Bert had spoken so rapidly that she had hardly sensed his words.

"You mean that she has run away again." she asked incredulously. "But how——"

"We were within five minutes of the sanitarium," said Bert, "when she said she wanted to mail a letter. We drove to the post-office and she went in and that's the last I saw of her."

"Have you notified the authorities?" asked Lois.

"No, I've been running around, trying to find her by myself—don't want to give a false alarm, you know."

"Then report the matter at once," directed Lois. "What do you want me to do in the meantime."

"Could you go back to the house? She might take a notion to go home. Someone ought to be there."

Lois hesitated only a moment. Then she added: "Yes. I'll go. I'll leave in a few minutes."

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Stac Corrspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 10 — Three aspirants for the well-worn toga of United States Senator Samuel M. Shortridge have already appeared upon California's political horizon.

They are:

Lieutenant-Governor Frank F. Merriam, Long Beach.

Former Governor Friend W. Richardson, Berkeley.

Former Governor C. C. Young, Palo Alto.

None of the three has definitely avowed his condidacy. Friends of each, however, already are sending up 'balloons" to test the public reaction to their favorites.

Last fall Merriam was groomed for one of the new congressional posts to be created in Southern California. Recently some of his advisors indicated he would seek the governorship in 1934. He is known to be receptive to both suggestions, but has given no indication of which he favors.

Former Governor Richardson is is mightly close to a decision. "I'm not ready yet for a definite statement," he told newspaper men this week, "but it is probable I shall enter the race for the Republican nomination."

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson is the strongest advocate of C .C. Young's candidacy, it is learned. Young and Johnson both stand for the same principles of progressive Republicanism, and it is known the senior senator has long wanted a team-horse who will "play ball." Young's family, however, are stoutly opposed to his reentering politics.

Quite a row developed in insurance circles of California when it was disclosed that the governor's son, James Rolph III had grabbed off a big chunk of bonding business, in excess of $500,000 in surety bonds from state officials, for his firm, of which the governor was formerly a member.

Governor Rolph came out with a statement, declaring letters over his name, sent out to solicit bonding business, were not actually signed by him. He also took a crack at his old political enemy, former Sheriff Tom Finn, whom he accused of being back of all the ruckus.

"I was elected without the aid of Mr. Finn and his defeated henchmen," declared the governor. "Surely principals and insurance brokers can place their business without fear of political retaliation from defeated bosses who held sway for a quarter of a century."

Nothing illegal has been disclosed, however. It is likely the whole rumpus will drop unless the insurance men's organization do as they threaten: Introduce a bill at the forthcoming legislature to nullify all bond business written by James Rolph III.

A talk given Wednesday evening before the members of the Menokirk club, men's organization of the Methodist church, by Prof. G. A. Werner, professor of history at the University of the Pacific, was thought by members to have been one of the best talks ever given before that organization.

Prof. Werner talked chiefly on the economic depression, its causes and proposed cures. His talk had a breadth that showed great study and thought on the subject on which he talked, and while it was confined chiefly to the difficult econmic situation, it was from start to finish, lighted by a sense of humor that made it intensly interesting. Prof Werner was introduced by the Rev. Jesse R. Rudkin, pastor of the Methodist church. An unusually large number of men were present to hear Prof. Werner.

Trail of Tears Pageant May Be Given by Tribes

Anniversary Planned for Celebration of Indians, Removal

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 11 (UP) A "Trail of Tears" pageant, depicting the trak of the Five Civilized Tribes from southeastern states to Indian territory, may be staged in Oklahoma in 1933 when an Indian Centennial celebration is held.

The celebration will mark the 100th anniversary of removal of the Indian tribes by the federal government from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Georgia.

The centennial probably will be held in Muskogee, Okla.

Pageants depicting different chapters in the history of the Five Civilized Tribes are planned. Demonstrations of the different Indian arts, including painting, basket weaving and bead work, will be given.

Muskogee probably will be selected as the site for the Indian Centennial since it is the capital of the Five Civilized Tribes.

Several states already have accepted invitations to participate. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, has informed the arrangements committee he would request the New York Legislature to appropriate sufficient funds to arrange an exhibit.

Although only preliminary plans have been formulated it is expected members of the Seminole, Creek, Cherokee, Chickasaw and Chotaw tribes will leave their modern homes and live once again in shelters built in the same manner as a century ago.

Kiwanians Told of Air Base Fight

The factors which decided the United States government to select Sunnyvale as the site of the proposed $5,000,000 dirigible base for the Pacific Coast, were explained to members of the Redwood Kiwanis club at the regular weekly meeting of that organization on Wednesday. The speaker was H. W. Crozier, consulting engineer of San Francisco, and his talk was illustrated by motion pictures.

Three factors were taken into consideration in making this decision, the speaker stated, they were position, strength, resources. In all of these factors the Sunnyvale site was preeminent. The climatic conditions in the Santa Clara valley were said to be perfect for this type of aircraft. The site was said to be just the right distance from the coast to make it safe from gun shot from vessels on the ocean, and the skyline boulevard was said to constitute an ideal base for defense by use of anti-aircraft guns against invading air craft.

The district is served by four main line railways, and a network of trunk highways, a condition which would add to the safety of the position in case of hostilities.

The weather was a particular factor in favor of the Sunnyvale site. The contour of the mountains makes the wind conditions ideal. The district is free from great or rapid temperatures changes, and visibility is practically ideal for an air field of any type. The fact that the site is only a few feet above sea level also is an aid to lighter-than-air craft, as a load of several tons more can be raised at this altitude that at the altitude of Camp Kearny near San Diego.

The chairman of the meeting was E. A. Rolison, city manager of Redwood City.

DRUNKEN STABLEMEN THOUGHT FIRE CAUSE

OAKLAND, Feb. 11—(UP) — The original theory that carelessness was responsible for the Oakland horse show fire was bolstered today by Mrs. Frank Taylor of Oakland, who said she had seen several drunken stablemen on the scene shortly after stablemen on the scene shortly before the blaze.

Police indicated they were inclined to agree, but Inspector W. F. Kyle of the arson squad said he wanted to check one more clue in San Francisco before abandoning the theory of incendiarism.

New York Leads In Foul Ruling

Although the New York State Athletic Commission gives full credit to New York's no foul rule for eliminating boxing's fouling evil, other organizations have been slow to accept the cure.

The National Boxing Association, representing 33 States and affiliated with several foreign organizations, still recognizes fouls as such and does not plan to legalize low blows. Under N. B. A. rules offending boxers forfit their full purse in event of fouls and the winner on a foul accepts prorata pay for the number of rounds fought.

The International Boxing Union, representing European countries, recently considered the New York rule but voted to retain existing rules as to prohibited territory.

Under New York's rule a boxer hitting a low blow loses the round in which the blow is struck, but in event the victim of a low blow is unable to continue, the offending boxer is given the decision on a technical knockout!

Nick Testo, Troy middleweight, was the first victim of the rule when he was struck palpably low by Vittorio Livan in a bout at Madison Square Garden and was unable to continue. He was counted out as he sat writhing in his corner and Livan was declared the winner.

Casual Chatter About Sports

Fred Asbeck, former Michigan pitcher, who says that his trip to Japan with the Wolverine nine was the best time he ever had, is giving up professional baseball to remain with a Chicago bond house. . . .Bill McAfee, Asbeck's hurling mate at Michigan, is going south with the Braves. . . .Baseball has had many famous brother combinations, but the Walker boys—Gerald and Harvey—who will accompany the Detroit Tigers to Sacramento this spring, boast the distinction of being the first brothers ever to come to the majors at the same time from the same minor league club. They are graduates of the Evansville Central League team, where Gerald might have established a world record for stolen bases had he not fractured a bone in his leg after swiping sacks in 84 contests. . . .Chalk up one for the Dickinson system of selecting football champions. Michigan rates over Northwestern in Big Ten play, but Northwestern gets the higher rating nationally. Northwestern was undefeated in the Big Ten, but lost to Notre Dame, while Michigan also was undefeated in the conference, but was held to a scoreless tie by Michigan State. . . .Ralph Greenleaf, ten-time holder of the world's pocket billard championship, cut his thumb while opening a window and has been forced to cancel several weeks of exhibition appearances. . . .Mike Gonzales, 38, is returning to the St. Louis Cardinals for the third time and Owner Sam Breadon announces that the Cuban veteran will be employed as a regular catcher, instead of coach. Gonzales first went to the Cards in 1915 after serving one season with Cincinnati . . . . Captain Elmer Schwartz and Glen Edwards of Washington stated after the Tournament of Roses game with Alabama that John (Flash) Suther, Tide halfback, was the best man they had ever faced. . . . Wallace Wade, Alabama coach, has established a record in taking three football teams through Tournament of Roses games without defeat, but his coast invasion as a player was less successful. He played guard on the Brown team which was beaten 14 to 0 by the University of Washington in the 1915 Roses game. He also was on Brown's 1916 team, sometimes adjudged the greatest of all Brown elevens, since it toppled Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays. . . . Marty McManus, Detroit third baseman, regards the 1930 season as the best of his 10 years in the majors and hopes to be even better in 1931. During the winter McManus submitted to an operation on the cartilage of his knee which was injured last summer.

Sequoia To Meet San Mateo Five

Sequoia Union high school's varsity and 130-pound basketball teams will battle the Peninsula Athletic League leader, San Mateo high, in the Bearcat gym this evening.

When the teams met the first time, San Mateo won both contests, the varsity, 25 to 18, while the Bearcat 130's won a close battle 16 to 13.

Coach Frank Griffin's Cherokee hoopsters will be out to gain revenge and to raise their rating in the league rankings. The Indian 130's have won but one league tilt so far, but the varsity has won two and lost two league encounters.

The Purple and White varsity has suffered continually the loss of star players at various times during the season, some on account of graduation, ineligibility, or injuries. These causes have hampered the Indians' performances and will again bob up in this evening's contest with the Cats. During the year the varsity has lost McCarthy, Albert DeLacy, and Bugge ,the latter temporarily.

In spite of poor showing the 130's have consistently kept their lineup intact and have lost some close games that might just has well have been won. Captain Bruce Graham, Stan Wohlken, Elmer West, Dick Morgan, Charles Peri, and Don Harris compose the bulwark of the Cherokee's lightweight team.

The probable lineups for the San Mateo contest this evening as follows:

Varsity	Sequoia	130's
LeRoy (C)	forward	Peri
Cullen	forward	Harris
Langbehn	center	Graham
Lewis	guard	Morgan
Silva	guard	West

SEQUOIA BASE BALLERS TO MAKE SEASON DEBUT

Next Thursday afternoon the Sequoia Union high school baseball team will make its debut of the practice season when the varsity takes on Coach Morey's Menlo junior college diamond artists on the Jaysee diamond. This game was postponed from this week on account of the bad weather prevailing.

Coach Len Casanova, Cherokee mentor, has several veterans turning out for the sport and more arriving at the close of the present basketball season. Many of the other condidates are promising and should be assigned positions on the team before long.

Huge Magnet to Be on Exhibit at Metal Congress

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11—Anyone with high blood pressure and shoes with steel nails in them is hereby warned to stay away from the National Western Metal Congress and Machinery Exposition, which opens here Feb. 16 for five days of scientific discussions.

For among equipment which will be on exhibit is a 'magnetic separator" capable of picking up by the soles of his shoes anyone within range of its power, providing, of course, he happens to have his feet turned toward it.

Metal workers explained that the purpose of the separator is to cull metal scraps from chaff or dirt. Hours of human labor are rendered unnecessary by this powerful instrument.

The separator will hold to its polished surface as much metal as its overhead moorings will support. When its work is finished it often resembles a huge ant hill, with thousands of tiny pieces of metal which cling to it until the electrical power which gives it its magnetism is turned off.

This machine, along with thousands of other interesting pieces of equipment, will be on exhibit at the Municipal Auditorium during the five days of the metal congress, Feb. 16 to 20.

Among other exhibits of interest will be a line of high-speed drills and feeds, gauges of all descriptions, safety devices, welding and cutting torches and many other instruments used in the process of steel manufacture or treatment.

The Carl Zeiss Co. will present an exhibit of metallographic equipment, used in the laboratory, including a photo-micrographic camera, spectroscope and a line of cameras and magnifiers.

Contrasting with some of these small and delicate pieces of research equipment will be exhibits of huge furnaces and other massive machinery used in various capacities in the steel industry. Even electric trucks and tractors will be shown.

Thirteen technical engineering societies will contribute speakers who will entertain and instruct various business sessions of the congress.

A civic committee, with Gov. James Rolph, Jr., Joseph J. Tynan, vice-president of Bethlehem Steel Co., and R. E. Fisher, vice-president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., at its head, will act as general reception committee to greet delegates and visitors to the congress.

Lecture sessions will be held daily at St. Francis Hotel, the metal congress' headquarters, with men prominent in the engineering world speaking on various phases of the steel and metal industry.

Visits to bay region plants, dances, banquets and touring parties are among events on the program for the delegates.

Legion Drummers .... To Aid Dedication Of Gonzales Hall

The drum corps of Redwood City post, American Legion, will go to Gonzales tomorrow night to take part in the dedication of the new war memorial hall of the Gonzales post of the Legion. Stanton Mullen is director of the drum corps and Tom Vernall is drum major. The drum corps of the local post is considered one of the best in this district.

WATER POLO TEAM IN SECOND LEAGUE GAME

In their second league game of the season the Sequoia Union high school varsity water polo team will clash with the Palo Alto varsity water polo team in the Paly pool this afternoon at 3:30.

Last Monday in the opening contest of the water polo loop, the Cherokee paddlers trounced the Menlo junior college 18 to 0 in a brilliant game, on the part of the Indians, in the local pool.

The scheduled game with the California frosh for last Monday was postponed until next Wednesday by coaches agreement. This tilt will come off in the Olympic club pool in San Francisco.

Captain Jim Adams, Walt Worrell, Frank and Stuart Goldthwaite, and George Cartwright are the Indian mermen who will be heard from in this afternoon's water polo tilt with the Vikings.

"The Perfect Alibi" is a thrilling satire on crime and police methods by A. A. Milne, the author of "Mr. Pim Passes." The play is being managed by the Sequoia Players. Claude van Patten will direct and J. Edwin Spence will stage the play. Klyne Headley will have charge of the musical program for the production.

SIXTEEN HITTERS OUT FOR BIG LEAGUE BERTHS

By JAMES S. SHEEHY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 11—Sixteen of the best hitters and pitchers of the Pacific Coast league will eat with big league clubs in the spring training grapefruit leagues in Florida, California, and Texas this year.

Oakland will send four stars to National and American league clubs. Leading the hitting and eating attack will be Ernie Lombardi, huge catcher, who hit .377 and ate .950 in the coast league. He should be worth $40,000 Brooklyn paid for him. If he improves in backstop knowledge under Uncle Wilbert Robinson he may rival Al Lopez, the Robins' first string catcher.

The Phillies added a long distance hitter in Russell "Buzz" Arlett. Arlett is a switch hitter with a free swing that brings homers. His one glaring weakness is a rather carefree spirit that approaches ennui when he strikes a batting slump. He is a fair outfielder.

Fourth Minor Star

The Giants took Verges, Oakland's stocky third baseman, who may carry on at third base if McGraw decides to play Lindstrom in the outfield. Verger follows through nicely on his drives and gets many long homers into left field stands. A fourth Oakland star to go up is Howard Craghead, right-handed pitcher, who should stick with Cleveland. He has poise, speed and a flashy curve.

That hardy perennial — Earl Sheely—was drafted by the Boston Braves from San Francisco. He is perhaps without a peer in handling thrown balls at first base and is a keen hit-and-run batsman. Corsetti, young shortstop, will go up from San Francisco to the New York Yankees at the close of the coast league season. He is ball hawk, young and determined.

Perhaps the flashiest outfielder to appear in the coast league in years is Meryl Hoag, Sacramento, who goes to the Yankees. He is grace personified in center field—fast, alert and a dangerous hitter. Sacramento also sends Fay Thomas, right-handed pitcher, to Cleveland. He should stick.

Mickey Heath, left-handed, long range hitting Hollywood first baseman, goes to Cincinnati. Heath plays a neat game at first base and clouts fast balls.

Baecht Fast

Los Angeles sends Ed Baecht, star, confident pitcher, to the Chicago Cubs. It was reported that Rogers Hornsby wouldn't give Baecht a tumble a few years ago in the Cardinal training camp but he probably will have plenty of time for him this year at Catalina Island. Baecht is very fast. Frank Sigafoos, Los Angeles second baseman, returns to the big leagues—this time with Cincinnati. Wes Schulmerich, heavy-bodied Los Angeles outfielder, goes to the Boston Braves. He hit hard last year, but some ball players wonder if he can clout after he makes the turn around the national league circuit and pitchers get a real look at him.

Joe Palmisano, Portland catcher, goes to the Athletics as do Hank McDonald, rookie pitcher, and Bob Johnson, young outfielder. Palm, as he was called on the coast, probably will stick, as he has pepper, speed and catching brains. McDonald and Johnson very likely will be sent back or farmed out for experience.

Seattle sold Marvin Owen, ex-Santa Clara college infielder, to Detroit. He can play any position on the infield and can hit.

MENLO PARK

The city council met Tuesday evening with all members present.

A communication was read from City Engineer Bert J. Mehl saying that $372.75 had been expended on street work as ordered and that the entire work would be completed when the weather permitted. He asked the council to pay the labor bills amounting to $244.45 for the improvements. Mehl also reported that the old store building partly destroyed by a recent fire could not be repaired and therefore condemned the structure.

The petition of the residents of Stanford avenue asked that the name of the thoroughfare be changed to Creek Drive. There being other Stanford streets in the community, much confusion would be avoided by the change. The prayer of the petition was granted. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Drugg represented the petitioners. Stanford avenue runs parralell to San Francisquito creek.

Henry Baker in a letter to the council asked that the contractor, Mr. Cain, who constructed Hoover street, be compelled to move a tree stump placed on his lot near the street. The matter was referred to the street commissioner. Robert Wricker, a lot owner on Hoover street, complained of the poor surfacing of the street. A communication from other property owners on the street held a meeting Monday evening and found that all present felt that the thoroughfare was not entirely satisfactory. Both communications were filed.

In a communication to the council Mr. Ney informed the members that the compensation insurance held by the council would expire on February 25. No action was taken on the communication.

The report of Chief Love was read as follows: licenses collected, $608; traffic violations, $153.50; other violations $50; dance hall $35; total $846.50.

The ordinance regulating the sale of exposed food was adopted.

City Clerk F. I. Kurtz was instructed to write the representatives of the county in the state legislature and urge them to support Senate Bill No. 386. If the act becomes a law the state may widen the public highways and maintain them. This will relieve the municipalities of the burden of buying rights of way in cities and towns. It will then be the work of the highway commission

Senator Harper's bill to raise the tax rate from $1 to $1.25 on the one hundred doliars was filed. The city attorney explained if the rate was adopted it would not be obligatory on the part of the council to accept that figure. They could do so if necessary.

B. F. Cain was given an extension of time to March 1st to complete his contract for Hoover street. The granting of the extension occasioned much discussion. Blake wanted to know what became of the rock taken from the road bed. He thought that it could have been used on other streets, that other contracts were let and that some provision ought to be made for this rock. City Engineer Mehl stated that the dirt was mixed with the rock on Hoover street, and that it would cost more to salvage it than good rock would cost. City Attorney Whitworth maintained that Cain was entitled to he bed rock, he quantity being so small. In case of vast amounts it might be possible for the city to salvage the rock. F. W. Johnson, road overseer for the county, maintained that it would be cheaper to buy new rock than to attempt to salvage the old material.

Supervisor John Poole was given a vote of thanks for loaning a roller to repair emergency work on certain streets in the city.

A petition signed by John Beltramo and others having property in the vicinity of Harvard street, to lay a twelve inch storm sewer from Harvard street to San Francisquito creek in addition to the thirty-six inch storm sewer already planned was granted.

On motion of Anderson, seconded by Blake it was ordered that a Ford automobile be purchased for the police department from the Toyon Motor Co., at a cost of $348.20. Police Commissioner Crane stated that it would cost the sum of $114.85 to repair the old car. He thought this would be a waste of money when a new machine could be purchased for that small figure. The old car is to be traded into the company. Mayor Weeden thought it good business to buy the new machine. The motion to purchase was ananimous.

The council adjourned to meet February 24.

W. K. White, owner of the old E. W. Hopkins estate, is erecting large stables on the property on Laurel avenue. Mr. White is the owner of several pure bred horses.

On March 4th bids are to be opened by the State Railroad Commission for the construction of a bridge over the San Francisquito Creek, near East Palo Alto for the accommodation of the Bayshore boulevard that is now partly completed to Willow Road. Bids for the continuance of the thoroughfare through Menalto Park will be opened in about a month. This beautiful subdivision with its unexcelled street work and sidewalks and the prospects of the Western Pacific railroad running close by, make it one of the finest tracts in the country. A big campaign of building is to start this spring. By a plan arranged by the promoters of the tract, easy terms will be given home seekers so that anyone owning property there can erect a substantial home for a small amount of money. This subdivision has the best future of any other in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Loughlin have returned from Los Angeles, where they went to attend the funeral of Mrs. Josie Kain, sister of Mr. Loughlin. The deceased was a native of Massachusetts and is survived by her husband. Mrs. Kain was a profesional nurse and during the World War did good work in San Francisco or the government. She had been a resident of Los Angeles for many years.

On Monday, February 2, a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Murray of Palo Alto. The new arrival has a sister about three years old.

The property owners of East Palo Alto will on March 2, vote to annex that territory to the Menlo Park Fire department. The area to be annexed consists of all the land east of Cooley avenue from the Bay road to Pulgas avenue and south to the San Francisquito creek, with the exception of a few parcels of land whose owners did not want to join the Menlo Park Fire district. There is no question but that the election will carry.

The rain fall for the recent storm was seventeen hundredths of an inch making a total for the season of 6.96 inches as against 6.94 at this time last year.

Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. will give a card party in the New Masonic hall on February 26.

Mrs. Joseph Hern is recovering from an operation for appendicitis, performed in the Palo Alto hospital last Wednesday.

The committee on St. Patrick's Day Celebration is working out a fine program for that occasion. It is to be the best ever. The Elks Club orchestra is to furnish the music, while members of the Olympic Club of San Francisco will regale the audience with Irish songs and dances. Other talent is to be on the program.

A minstrel entertainment under the direction of a committee of the Ladies Auxiliiary of the Menlo Presbyterian church is being planned by a special commitee and will be given in the educational building next to the church at an early date.

At the Oakland Horse Show on Friday last first prize for lightweight polo ponies was awarded to the Misses Emily and Georgia Canfield of Menlo Park.

During the lenten season that begins on next Wednesday, conferences will be held at Corpus Christy Monastery every Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. The sermon will be preached aby Father Grotto of St. Patrick's Seminary.

Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. will hold a blue rock shoot on vacant land in the vicinity of the Bear Gulch Lake on February 22. The crack shots in town are looking forward to the trap shoot with enthusiasm. Clay pigeons a plenty will be furnished. The day is to be a pleasant one for sportsmen.

Frank X. Lintner, father of Officer Frank M. Lintner, and well-known here was united in marriage at San Jose last Saturday to Mrs. McMahon, a popular matron of that city. The Lintner's after spending a week with friends at Sonora will make their home in San Jose.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., (UP)— Despite fog and frost angling operations in Midland waters have yeilded considerable sport since the first of the year. An angler has captured a brace of pike weighing 23 pounds and 12 pounds. Reports from other sections show that the upper Thames is still on the fast side, but there are plenty of good bank swims available.

WOODSIDE

William S. Jackson of Woodside suffered an accident on Saturday night that was at first feared might be very serious. A car in which he was riding left the road, turned over in the ditch and continued on its way, skating along on its side for a distance of about two hundred feet. Jackson was extricated from the wreckage and brought to his home here but was afterward taken to the hospital for examination. Here it was discovered that he had escaped with nothing more serious than a cracked rib and some bad bruises. He is expected home from the hospital this Saturday.

Mrs. W. P. Roth has the sympathy of Woodside in the loss of her horses at the Oakland fire. Such horses as hers come to be regarded almost as members of the family and their loss in such tragic manner causes a wrench that no financial insurance can do much to ameliorate.

The card party given at the school auditorium on Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the Girl Scouts proved a very pleasant and successful affair.

John Volpiano, a former graduate of the Woodside School, returned to school last Friday as the Assistant Fire Chief of the District to talk to the children about fire prevention and fire fighting methods. For the past two years he has been pursuing studies along this line following a course given by the Fire Department in San Francisco. His talk proved of great interest to the children. He also showed them some fifty large photographs of firemen in action at fires that he had obtained from the San Francisco department.

This week the pupils will have the opportunity to listen to Clarence Wicoff who, although a peace officer and not a fireman, was trained under August Vollmer of Berkeley and knows what to do at a fire as well as how to investigate a murder.

Valentines Day will be celebrated at the school on Friday afternoon. This holiday has grown greatly in popularity in recent years until now it stands second only to Christmas in the minds of the youngsters.

Rev. Benjamin St. John has been spending the week in Berkeley in attendance upon the pastoral conference in session there.

There is much circumstantial evidence pointing to the fact that spring has arrived. The trillium or wake-robin is abloom in the foothills, great splotches of yellow acacia stand out boldly against the green of the fields, the buckeyes are in full leaf and the leaf buds are bursting on lilac and oak and the almond trees are covered with snowy petals.

LAWYER'S TIP CAUSES ARREST

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UP) — Elia Sargis took a tip from the city prosecutor and beat up Asaboor Berherian, who was alleged to have stolen his wife's affections. When Sargis was tried for non-support he testified he'd be glad to support his wife if she didn't perfer the company of Berberian. The prosecutor remarked if he were "any kind of a man" he'd take the law into his own hands. Elia did.

TEMPTED?

Although Prof. Albert Einstein is reported to have turned down one or two handsome offers to go into the movies, we're wndering whether his posing in this picture with the director and stars of MGM German version of "The Big House" may be taken as indication that he has changed his mind. The photo taken in Hollywood, shows, left to right, Gustav Diesl, Henrich George, Einstein, Paul Morgan and Director Paul Frejos.

MENLO PARK NATIVE SONS REPAIR MARKERS AT ST. DENIS' CEMETERY

Site of County's First Church Renovated by Menlo Parlor; Founded in Pioneer Times by Late Denis Martin; Now Part of Stanford University Land

Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. has taken upon itself teo restore the fence around the old St. Denis cemetery that has for some years been in a dilapidated condition. A committee, headed by James Andrews, the widely known builder, was appointed at the last meeting of the organization to replace the wire fence that was was destroyed by stray cattle years ago. The committee this week restored the fence and raised the headstones that had fallen. The ancient cemetery contains the bones of many a county pioneer, whose monuments have long since crumbled into dust. The Native Sons have done noble work and deserve the thanks of the community.

The following article appeared in the Times-Gazette three years ago, written by D. E. O'Keefe, who knows the history of the land mark well. The story will be read with interest:

Father C. E. Kennedy, W. J. Murray and the writer recently visited the scene of the old St. Denis church located just off the Sand Hill road about a mile from the defunct town of Searsville. Cattle roam at will over the place that was once the scene of large gatherings, where worshippers came on horseback from the mills and surrounding country to attend mass in the little church nestling in the sunlight just at the base of the Sierra Morena mountains. The large oak that sheltered the edifice is still standing. Under this monarch of the forest the church was erected by the generosity of the late Denis Martin, who came with an ox team over the plains in 1844 to make his fortune in the west.

Martin was a quaint character. In the old days of his prosperity he did not forget the faith of his father, nor the religion taught him by his mother, so he erected a church in which the people might worship. The edifice was named after Martin's patron saint, Saint Denis of France. It was the first church in the county. The doors were thrown open in 1858. The dedicatory ceremonies were in charge of the fathers of Santa Clara Mission or rather the Jesuit priests of Santa Clara university. For some years after a priest would walk from the mission over El Camino Real to the Sand Hill road to the church. Arriving on Saturday evening, the devoted priest would wrap his cloak about him and sleep near the altar. After mass next morning he would take his meal at the home of the late John Murray, near by, and along in the afternoon trudge his weary way back on the dusty road to the mission. The worshippers were served in this manner for many years until the latter sixties when the late lamented Father Dempsey of San Mateo was placed in charge by Archbishop Alemany who was at the dedicatory ceremonies and who was present on the bright Sunday morning in June when Father Dempsey became the first pastor of the historic church.

It is said and the writer was told that every Sunday several devoted people would walk from Redwood City to attend mass at Saint Denis church.

Martin built a modest home not far from the edifice. Every Sunday found the philanthropist in the front seat. He collected the offerings and was active in the work of the church. Martin planted an orchard not far from his residence and several of the trees are still bearing excellent fruit.

Martin started an imposing dwelling, two stories high, adjacent to the modest old home but before it was finished he moved to another part of his vast domain, the Pulgas rancho containing some 35,350 acres.

Martin also gave the people a cemetery, the site of which was located several hundred yards from the church on a sloping hill Here the morning sun casts its first lines and here its last rays linger longest as it goes down behind the Sierra Morena mountains. The cemetery was ideally located. Two tall cypress of mammoth size still stand in the middle of the sacred spot, perhaps planted by some fond mother who wanted their shadows to fall on the resting place of her dear one or maybe tenderly set out by a devoted son, so that the grave of his beloved would be sheltered from the winter storms. The trees stand majestically and do perform this service for the dead.

A fence surrounds the God's Half Acre and is in fairly good preservation. A falling tree some time ago destroyed a hundred yards of it but this could be replaced at a nominal cost.

The head stones have crumbled and fallen. The inscriptions on them are in splendid state of preservation showing the mechanical skill of the artists in the by-gone days. According to the inscriptions, the first burial in the cemetery was a young man named Edward Lynch, who was killed in a saw mill at Searsville, only a short way off, in 1856, and the last to be buried there was a child in 1874.

When Leland Stanford acquired this property in 1876, it was his request that the ancient cemetery and church should be preserved. After his death in 1892, his wishes were disobeyed and the fences were removed and the church wrecked. The silver candlesticks on the altar brought from Rome by Martin are now on the altar in the Church of the Nativity, Menlo Park. The old board fence around the graveyard has been replaced by a rail fence, which is partly down, permitting cattle to browse over the sacred place.

Martin after a long litigation over the Pulgas rancho, lost the land. The late Sidney Mezes and Luis A. and Ramon Arguello secured title to it. Martin died in poverty and by a queer quirk of fate lies in the forgotten cemetery that he provided for the people during the days of his wealth and prosperity. His late resting place is unmarked. No marble shaft points heavenward to designate the spot where lie the bones of this good man, who in strong manhood left his home in Missouri with a party of sturdy pioneers and crossed the trackless desert to build a home in the west. With him on the perilous trip were the Murphys, who settled in Santa Clara county, obtaining large tracts of land from the Mexican government. Their decendants are all prominent in our neighboring county.

The Native Sons of the Golden West have dedicated their efforts toward preserving the land marks of the state. Here is an opportunity for the members and several parlors of the peninsula to unite and use their efforts in preserving the Saint Denis cemetery. It is a sacred spot, rich in history and should be preserved. A small amount of money would place it in splendid condition. This old land mark should not be allowed to crumble. It links the past with the present. By all means let it be preserved. Who can we turn to for the performance of this work but the Native Sons, whose pride in their states behooves them to keep intact this sacred land mark.

Driver's License Best Reference

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11—(UP) — Guard well your automobile driver's license. It may be one of your best "character references."

That is, if it isn't cluttered up with the record of a lot of traffic violations.

In the last year and a half, since California's new law regulating the issuance of operators' cards went into effect, marked headway has been made in observing traffic laws and reducing accidents in this state.

And possession of a "clean driver's license" is the best testimonial that you are a careful driver and do not run afoul of the laws that might be registered on, or deprive you of that certificate.

In ten months of last year 1333 licenses were revoked for cause. Of this number 750 licenses were taken from drivers for drunkenness. These figures are greater than any other in recent years and reflect the tightening up policy of the division of motor vehicles in removing from the highway the careless and reckless driver.

"The license properly issued and properly controlled, can and should be a most potent factor in the reduction of motor vehicle accidents on the highways, says Fred P. Williams, head of the bureau of drivers licenses.

"No other factor in the control of authorities offers such possibilities for weeding out the incompetent, for keeping recklessness within bounds and for actually educating the person who wants to know something about the subject in the common eevryday rules of the road."

While the legislative act of two years ago is far from perfect its outstanding features, according to Williams, are:

1. Provision for the examination of all new drivers, such examination to include inquiry into the applicants physical and mental conditions and ability to drive.

2. Provision for the renewal of all outstanding licenses every two years with power for the state to demand an examination if deemed necessary.

3. Authority for the revocation or suspension of drivers' licenses for cause.

State Capitol Happenings

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11—(UP)—A post-graduate course for traffic officers is now being considered by the state.

Now that all patrolmen have passed through the elementary state school at Mather field here, they are expected to return in groups of 50 for additional work. The advanced courses will be in motor vehicle law, jiu jitsu and first aid, and will be under Inspector J. J. Borree, in charge of the patrol school.

Bills by the tons are now being mailed to members of the California state legislature, according to Harry Hammond, state printer. A total of 2,000 packages weighing 9 pounds each were mailed last week. Another shipment is now under way, and in all, 16 tons will be shipped.

No longer will wives be permitted to buy a radio, washing machine or vacuum cleaner on the installment plan, if a bill by Assemblyman Harry Morrison of San Francisco is passed by the legislature. He would invalidate any contract for deferred payments if it is signed by the wife alone.

Declaring that California should not wait two years longer before adopting a co-ordinated water program, Governor Rolph this week appointed a special commission to go to Washington and confer with President Hoover and federal leaders about the state's water problems. The commission will be headed by Colonel Walter E. Garrison, director of public works, and Senator Bradford S. Crittenden, Stockton chairman of the legislative water committee. They will attempt to determine what part Uncle Sam will take in underwriting the cost of a statewide water system.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

By DUANE HENNESSY

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11—The test of whether an associate producer really is an associate producer after he had been told he is one by movie studio executives has been found by Al Boasberg, a.p. at Radio Pictures studio.

"When I was appointed an associate producer I found myself supplied with a nice shiny desk and a spick-and-span office," Boasberg said. "Just being hired didn't prove anything, so I decided to find out just how I stood.

"I slipped over to the wardrobe department and borrowed a beard. I put it on and, incognito, went back to the office building.

"When I entered, the secretary looked up and I asked: 'May I see Mr. Boasberg.'' Well, she sort of grinned at the funny beard, but replied: 'Mr. Boasberg is in a story conference, would you wait?"

"So I sat down, and after waiting for myself for an hour, I decided that I was a real associate producer."

Here's one that can be taken with a grain of salt, but William Powell maintains it is the truth:

"I was entering the studio the other day," Powell said, "when an old man approached and asked me if I could tell him where the Clara Bow set was.

"Curious to know what he wanted, I asked him why he sought the information.

" 'I'm looking for my father,' he said in a feeble voice.

" 'Your father,'' I gasped. 'What would your father be doing on the Clara Bow set?'

" 'He's acting there, and I want to find him to tell him that grandpa says to tell the assistant director he's at liberty for new work after today.' "

Bargains Offered In Travel Fares

Adapting the "dollar day" enterprise of the mercantile world to rail transportation, the Southern Pacific Company today announced plans for the greatest travel bargains ever offered in the West.

Scheduled for two successive Fridays, February 20 and 27, the special sale of roundtrip transportation at the rate of approximately "100 miles for $1" has been authorized over all the company's widespread Pacific system, it was revealed here by L. R. Dains, local agent, for the railroad.

The "dollar day" tickets will be accepted on all trains, both coach and Pullman, Mr. Dains, announced, and will be good for five days, the return limit being Tuesday midnight following the day of sale.

In making public the Southern Pacific's intention to carry out the "dollar day" idea in railroad passenger traffic, Dains, said:

"Sales of this kind are well established in merchandising circles but this is the first time they have been adopted by a railroad as an extraordinary means of promoting travel.

"It is our belief that travel bargains are just as acceptable as merchandise bargains and that the public will find them especially useful in making business and pleasure trips at this time of the year."

Emphasizing the great reductions in the "dollar day" plan, Mr. Dains, pointed out that the roundtrip between Redwood City and Los Angeles for instance, will cost $9.65, whereas the regular fare is $16.08 one way.

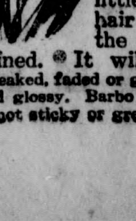
The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made



To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

KINDERGARTENS OF COUNTY SHOW AVERAGE COST OF $60.26

Marin County Shows Highest Kindergarten Cost in State; Lowest Cost Per Pupil Found in Placer County

By RUSSEL D. PENNYCOOK
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12—(UP)—Kindergartens have become much more important in California's school system since the days when Kate Douglas Wiggin established the first one on Silver street, in San Francisco.

Indeed, there are more children attending school today in kindergarten grades than ever before. In spite of decreased birth rates, statistics show approximately as many children enrolled as there are in the third grade.

The cost of kindergartens to the tax payer is not excessive. For example, San Mateo county paid $60.26 per pupil for kindergarten instruction last year, as compared with an average cost of $96.08. The highest cost per pupil was in Marin county, $124.60, while the lowest cost, $33.17 was in Placer county.

The traditional school age of 6 years is rapidly becoming a thing of the past, according to William John Cooper, former state superintendent of public instruction in California, now federal commissioner of education.

An increase of more than 50 per cent has been noted in kindergarten enrollment throughout the United States during the laste 10 years. This shows the growing acceptance of the desirability of pre-first grade training for children before they reach their sixth birthday.

Kindergartens are now regarded as an integral part of the California school system and while the average age is approximately 5½ years, children as young as two years have been enrolled for instruction in pre-kindergarten work.

California now has approximately 80,000 children enrolled in kindergarten work. Nearly three and a quarter million are enrolled for kindergarten-primary work in the United States.

In this state there are now only 10 counties—all having small populations—in which kindergarten work is not offered as part of the public education system.

New Officer Proposed in All Counties

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 11—(UP)—San Mateo county would have have a new official, to be known as "county restitution officer," under terms of a measure before the California state legislature.

This officer would be in charge of a special department created in the district attorney's office. His job would be to seize and hold all property of persons arrested for fraud, thefts and embezzlements and return it to the victims of convicted criminals, prorated according to amounts lost and seized.

The county restitution officer would be appointed by a majority of the judges of the criminal courts in the county, and would be placed under heavy bond.

"Whenever a man accused of theft is arrested, his property would be ordered attached by the court," said Senator J. McKinley of Los Angeles, author of the proposed act. "It would be released if he is acquitted of the crime charged, or upon proof of ownership to the court, the property, less expense of handling, would be distributed to the original owners, in case of conviction."

A significant change in California's criminal law is provided by this measure, which requires that "No such convicted person shall be eligible to parole if such restitution has not been made."

If the convicted person has spent or hidden his unlawful gains ,the act would require him to serve a further term at hard labor in addition to his sentence for the offense. This would be for violation of the restitution law, at the rate of $2 per day. Half this amount would go to the state for his support, and the rest as restitution to his victims.

Presaging an attack upon its constitutionality, the act provides that if any section is held unconstitutional it shall not affect the validity of the remainder of the act.

MAN SAID TO MAN! WE SHALL BE RULERS OVER ALL THINGS ON EARTH.

For so it is written that man shall rule.
Out of the brains of man have been fashioned the tools of progress for the human kind. Out of the same brain have been fashioned the weapon of defense against the beasts of the wilds.
Out of the same brain have issued the schemes that prey on other men forgetful of the heart plan of the Creative God.
If man shall rule justly and for the common wheel, he must have a good heart, as well as a shrewd brain.
Let's all remember that no man is better than his heart and therefore must we remember that the heart must be kept clean and strong, if we shall be qualified as just rulers on this earth.
